

Ujamaa

(Cooperative Economics)

written by: Okera Ras I, copyright 1994

Pronunciation:

Ujamaa (oo-jah-ma')

Chorus

Ujamaa

Cooperative Economics

(4x)

Verse

Where did you spend your money today?

Did you support one of our own businesses along the way

With Ujamaa we build our business and profit from them together

If we all carry some weight, the load is as light as a feather

In a barrel the jealous crabs are forever bound

So when one of us is rising, let's lift them up and not pull them down

We can get on track and pick up the slack

But we seem to lack a desire to Buy Black

It seems so easy to recycle our dollars and cents

So in each other let's increase our confidence

This is our life, not a story in the comics

We all can benefit from Cooperative Economics

Chorus

Ujamaa

Cooperative Economics

(8x)

Where did you spend your money today?
